

BAY STATE WANTS
TARIFF REVISIONTime for Change Is Alleged To Have ArrivedFULL TICKET CHOSEN WITH GUILD
FOR GOVERNOR.Senator Lodge and Eugene N. Foss
Clashed Over Criticism of Congressional Delegation.

BOSTON, Oct. 6.—With only one voice raised in opposition, the Republicans of Massachusetts in state convention today declared for a revision of tariff. Contrary to expectations, the radical wing of the party, under the leadership of Eugene N. Foss of Boston, did not offer a substitute for the financial plank in the platform relating to the tariff, although in a speech to the delegates Foss declared that the revision of the tariff favored in the state platform was not sufficiently wide in its scope. Foss said, however, that he and his followers were encouraged at the concession made to them and that next year they would expect to have the convention accept their proposition in its entirety.

The following ticket was nominated:
Governor—Curtis Guild, Jr., Boston.
Lieutenant governor—Eben A. Draper, Hopedale.
Secretary of state—William M. Olin, Clinton.
Treasurer and receiver general—Arthur B. Chapin, Holyoke.
Auditor—Henry E. Turner, Malden.
Attorney general—Daniel M. Joney, Greenfield.

Opposing Tariff Revision.
One of the surprises came when General William F. Draper, former ambassador to Italy and a leading member of the Home Market club, opposed in a vigorous speech the adoption of the tariff revision plank of the platform. General Draper said he would not offer any substitute plank for the reason that he knew there was no chance of his or any other substitute being accepted. General Draper contended that tariff revision would be followed by financial and commercial depression, and speaking as a manufacturer he could see no reason why there should be a revision.

The platform presented by the committee on resolutions was adopted without amendment and reads in part:
"We congratulate the president upon his overwhelming triumph at the polls at the last election. Such a splendid endorsement was given by the people because it was deserved."

Referring to the president's part in securing peace in the Far East, the platform says:

"It is everywhere gratefully recognized that peace so earnestly desired is due in large measure to the untiring efforts of President Roosevelt. He has earned the gratitude of all the world."
The president is also heartily endorsed for his "fearless enforcement of laws enacted to prevent great corporations from oppressing the people by unjust discrimination or by the destruction of lawful competition."

On the subject of tariff the platform says:
"We believe that the policy of protection to American labor and American industry should be maintained. The Republican party of Massachusetts reaffirms its devotion to the principle of protection and is opposed to tariff changes tending to deprive or destroy any of our industries or to lower the wages of American labor."

"But we recognize the fact, as declared by the national Republican convention at Chicago, that the rates should be changed when conditions have so changed that the public interest demands the alteration of schedules. The time has come when the tariff should be undertaken must be determined by the representatives of the party from all parts of our country. We approve the position taken by our senators and representatives at the last session of congress in favor of present action and urge that they should continue to press upon their party associates in congress from other states the wisdom of a congressional revision of the tariff for the purpose of revision and adjustment."

"We further recommend for the consideration of congress the enactment of a tariff provision which shall protect our exports against discrimination and secure to the United States the treatment accorded to the most-favored nations in all foreign markets."
The president is endorsed in his efforts to "advise a just and effective method of building up a strong commercial fleet through the commission authorized in response to his request which makes its report to the next congress. And the lack of American steamship communication with South America and our feeble fleet of the ocean trade to the Orient are both a peril and reproach to the United States. The large and active merchant shipping would mean profitable employment for a congenial field for New England capital and labor. It would mean widening markets for the entire nation and the reinforcement of the navy by an indispensable reserve of auxiliary ships and seamen."

Senator Lodge Spoke.
A feature of the day's proceedings was the address of Senator Henry Cabot Lodge. Senator Lodge took the platform in reply to Eugene N. Foss, who had advocated the free admission of coal, hides and raw materials. Foss severely scolded the Massachusetts senators and representatives in congress, charging that they were not loyal to the interests of Massachusetts.

Senator Lodge in a parliamentary manner censured Foss for his strictures on the Massachusetts representation at the capital. Lodge also said that the time for tariff revision was the time when the Republican party was in power. He argued that "free raw materials" was but another term for free trade and that the admission of free raw materials would sound the death knell of reciprocity as well as of protection.

OGDEN, Utah, Oct. 6.—Mrs. Andrew Goodall, an apparently well-to-do woman of San Jose, Cal., whose family resides there, arrived here over the Union Pacific yesterday from a visit to Hamilton, Ont. She was taken into custody by officers and removed to the county jail and there confined under watch.

County Physician Gordon gave her attention. She is now greatly improved. Dr. Gordon believes her condition was due to high altitude. Her recovery is expected.

SWIFTWATER BILL

The sheriff is also instructed to levy upon his personal property.

TAFT TO RETAIN THE CANAL WORKDECISION ARRIVED AT BY THE PRESIDENT'S CABINET.New Policy of Secrecy to be Observed
Regarding the Semi-Weekly Meetings.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—Several important questions were discussed at today's cabinet meeting, although at the conclusion of the session it was announced officially that no details of the discussion could be made public. In fact, it was announced that hereafter information would be given out by cabinet officers of their semi-weekly meetings with the president, but that such information as it was deemed proper for the public to have would be given to the new-papermen by Secretary Loeb.

Despite the injunction of secrecy, it is learned that action was taken on two or three important matters and that others were considered. The monopoly enjoyed by the Merchants' Bridge company of St. Louis of bridge and ferry routes across the Mississippi river was considered at length. The attorney general made the following statement of the action taken:

"It was determined by the president that upon the complaint pending in the department of justice against the monopolization of the two bridges and the ferry routes across the Mississippi into St. Louis, appropriate action should be begun by the attorney general."

Moody said he could not say at this time what action he might consider appropriate.

After discussion in the cabinet meeting regarding the Chinese emigration to this country it was determined that no changes or modifications in conflict with instructions to United States consuls contained in the circular issued several months ago by the president's direction will be made.

It was definitely decided that the management of the Isthmian canal should remain under Secretary Taft.

Secretary Wilson brought to the attention of the president and the cabinet a determination he had regarding the inspection of meats. He indicated that under the law meat packers could not be forced to pay the cost of meat inspection. He had decided, however, that hereafter the packers should pay for the seals or tags placed upon inspected meats intended for export. This will bring a revenue to the department of agriculture of nearly $50,000 a year. This sum the secretary proposes to expend in extending the inspection of meats to packing houses which have requested that they be given inspectors, but whose requests have not been complied with because the department had not had the funds with which to pay the inspectors.

The idea of Secretary Wilson was approved by the cabinet and it will be put into operation at once.

As the control of Isthmian canal affairs will remain under Secretary Taft, he will go to Panama in November to investigate the situation there and to thoroughly inform himself of the conditions in the canal zone. Now that the work is to proceed under his direction Secretary Taft desires to go over the situation in detail and return to Washington at or about the time congress convenes. The secretary has had considerable reports regarding the progress of the work, sanitation, the facilities for the officials and laborers, and he desires to have personal knowledge which will enable him to decide what should be done and what recommendations shall be made to congress.

STEAMER ALAMEDA
SAVED FROM THE ROCKS AND LITTLE DAMAGED.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 6.—The steamer Alameda, which since last Saturday had been grounded on the rocks near Fort Point, is tonight moored at Pacific street wharf, and workmen are busy removing 300 tons of cargo remaining in her hold. Today divers went to the damage done to her hull when she crashed upon the rocks in the fog. At 4 o'clock powerful pumps were started to remove the water below deck and at 6:20 o'clock tonight she was floated and towed to her wharf. It is said that the damage is not so great as at first supposed and that her stay in the dry dock for repairs will not be of long duration.

EMMONS' TRIAL
NEARING THE ENDEvidence was Completed at Yesterday's SessionARGUMENT OF COUNSEL BEGINS
THIS MORNING.Harry Bunkers Refuted the Testimony of Emmons and Others on Crucial Points.

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 6.—The taking of testimony in the trial of E. J. Emmons, charged with acceptance of a bribe, was concluded this afternoon and the argument will be opened tomorrow morning by Charles A. Jones, associated with District Attorney Seymour in the prosecution. The session of court will end at noon, in accordance with the Saturday half holiday law, which was sarcastically designated by Judge Hart today as a souvenir of an all-wise legislature.

Over half the day was wasted because of the failure of a witness to arrive on a morning train from San Francisco. The court, the jury and the attorneys waited from 11 o'clock until 3 in the afternoon for this witness and his testimony occupied exactly ten minutes.

Grove L. Johnson, attorney for Emmons, offered no testimony in rebuttal and Jones informed Judge Hart that he would prefer to delay his argument, which he said would require three or four hours, until tomorrow morning.

Harry Bunkers was recalled and testified in rebuttal of the statements made by Wright and others, who affirmed that Bunkers had been in a hurry to leave the first committee meeting in order that he might take his sick child to the train.

Bunkers denied that the child was in this city at the time in question and stated that the child had been taken to San Francisco on an afternoon train. Bunkers recollects the conference in the county jail on the evening of his conviction. The witness affirmed positively that Wright and Emmons had promised to pay Mrs. Bunkers $500. He stated that the promise had been made by Emmons.

The convicted legislator was but a shadow of the robust man who went to trial last April. He looked pale to the point of ghastliness as he entered the courtroom this morning, which was his first appearance in the presence of his associates since he made his sensational confession on the witness stand at the opening of Emmons' trial nearly a month ago.

When Bunkers entered the court room he cast a furtive glance about him. Wright, who was to be tried for bribery, caught Bunkers' glance and the latter dropped his gaze and hurried to the witness stand. While giving his testimony Bunkers did not look in the direction of Wright and Emmons.

ments To The Bylaws And Passed Resolutions.

NAPA, Oct. 6.—At today's session of the state grange of the Patrons of Husbandry, an amendment to article 1 of the bylaws was passed providing that the master and state lecturer shall each be paid $700 per annum in addition to their necessary expenses while engaged in work of the order. The bylaws of the state grange were also amended by making the compensation of district and county masters $5 per day. Article 8 of the bylaws was amended, fixing the fee for membership in subordinate granges at $2. The convention decided to hold its meeting next year at Santa Rosa.

It was decided to establish a bureau of statistical information to collect information on crops and resources in various counties of the state and forward the same to subordinate granges. Also to establish a state agricultural federation to consist of representatives from the state board of agriculture, the board of horticulture, state grange and other bodies interested in agriculture. This will enable legislation on agricultural matters to be more readily effected.

A special committee of which W. W. Greer of Sacramento grange is chairman, presented the following resolutions which was adopted by the convention: "We request that commission proceed with as little delay as possible with the selection and purchase of a university farm; that the farm be put to use, not only for purposes of instruction, but also for experimentation on agricultural problems and we request that such farm be selected from land in an interior county and not from land about Berkeley."

The installation of new officers was held tonight.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 6.—It is now confidently expected that the national government will fortify San Pedro harbor. TRAIN COLLISION
NEAR SAN JOSE DID
LITTLE REAL DAMAGE

SAN JOSE, Oct. 6.—Passenger train No. 30, from San Francisco, left the main track a mile from this city at 4:45 this afternoon and collided with a switch engine. A mild panic followed, but no one was seriously injured. J. B. Schroeder of this city and F. B. Searing of Alameda received cuts about the face and hands. The passenger train was delayed thirty minutes. Both engines were damaged. The accident was due to a misplaced switch and that it was more serious is due to the slow rate, which the passenger train was moving.

COLORADO JUDGE
JAILS OFFICIALSGUTHRIE OF BRIGHTON IS NOT TO BE COWED.He Was Mobbed Last Tuesday and Proceeded to Play Even on the Bench.

BRIGHTON, Col., Oct. 6.—Trouble is brewing here again tonight as an outgrowth of the feeling against County Judge A. H. Guthrie, who was roughly handled by a mob on Tuesday last.

Judge Guthrie came to town from his county home and opened court today. He immediately issued citations for contempt of court against Sheriff James B. Higgins, Deputy Sheriff L. Bierl, Mayor J. N. Coulter, Trustees R. C. Cable and H. J. Schloo, Town Marshal Edward Denny and several others. The writs were given into the hands of the sheriff, who served all but his own accepting service upon himself through his deputy. When the persons named had been imposed various penalties, including fines and imprisonment, Mayor Coulter was the only one discharged.

The cases of the sheriff and one other were set for trial November 7th. Deputy Sheriff Ireland and R. J. Talbot, a Republican politician, were sentenced to six months and state lecturer shall each be paid $700 per annum in addition to their necessary expenses while engaged in work of the order. The bylaws of the state grange were also amended by making the compensation of district and county masters $5 per day. Article 8 of the bylaws was amended, fixing the fee for membership in subordinate granges at $2. The convention decided to hold its meeting next year at Santa Rosa.

Crowe went down, writhing in pain and Referee Sol Levinson accorded him the fight.

APOSTLE SMOOT
AT CONFERENCEMORMON CHURCH IS HOLDING ITS ANNUAL MEETING.President Smith Laments the Debt Incurring Habits of the Latter Day Saints.

SALT LAKE CITY, Oct. 6.—The seventy-sixth semi-annual conference of the Mormon church began here today, with more than 7000 Latter Day Saints present in the Tabernacle at the opening session. Apostle and United States Senator Reed Smoot whose absence from the recent conference caused some comment, was present today with the other apostles.

The feature of President Joseph F. Smith's address to the conference was his appeal to the saints to get out of debt and keep out. He deplored the readiness of Mormons to be "gulled into contracts under ironical notes," and urged his followers to "live so that they will have means on hand, instead of their means being in the hands of others."

Many of the elders who had been called to missions, President Smith said, had been unable to respond because they were in debt. "We want the young men," he said, "to prepare themselves financially, intellectually and spiritually to preach the gospel."

GOTHENBURG PLAN
FOR LOS ANGELESCapitalists Propose to Solve
The Liquor ProblemWOULD BUY ALL SALOONS AND RUN A FEW.Reducing the Number From Two Hundred to Twenty-Five—The Details Given.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 6.—As the result of a formal proposition submitted in writing to the city of Los Angeles today, there is a possibility that the famous "Gothenburg saloon system" may be installed in this city, supplanting the present private ownership of the 200 saloons here. The proposition came from twenty-five of the leading business men of the city, among the number being several possessing personal fortunes of millions.

It is proposed by these men as a company to pay to the city the sum of $180,000 per annum for the 200 saloon licenses now in operation in the city and to reduce the total number of saloons from 200 to twenty-five. The company offers to acquire the furniture and fixtures and good will of saloons from the present proprietors at an appraised valuation. After the license tax has been paid, the stockholders of the company under the proposed plan would be entitled to 6 per cent dividends from the receipts of the business on the total amount of the profits from the operation of the twenty-five saloons to revert to the city treasury.

The chief benefits to be derived from the Gothenburg system as urged by its Los Angeles promoters may be summarized as follows: Reduction of the whole number of saloons in the city from 200 to twenty-five; the closing of unsuitable saloons; the sale of nothing but absolutely pure liquors; the elimination of the private saloon proprietor and his influence in politics; the increase in the revenue to the city of the whole number of saloons in the city from 200 to twenty-five; STEAMER ST. PAUL PEORIA BANKER'S GOING TO PIECES WORK WAS COARSE

INCESSANT POUNDING ON ROCKS, INDICTMENTS AGAINST DOUGHERTY ARE PILING UP.

The Captain's Story Shows That the Disaster Occurred in a Thick Fog.

Bank Clerk Who Discovered the Irregularities Tells How the Work Was Done.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 6.—With hardly a chance of holding together the balance of the day, the wrecked steamer St. Paul, ashore at Point Gorda, is slowly but surely pounding to pieces. While the position of the vessel is reported unchanged since last night at dark, and as far as can be judged from the shore, the incessant pounding on the rocks has damaged her considerably and it would create no surprise to receive a report any moment that she had gone to pieces.

The officers of the vessel were afraid of this from the moment she struck the rocks, all hands fearing she would turn turtle. It was for this reason that three boats were sent out, but later the stern swung in towards the beach and the danger was passed over. The captain of the St. Paul expressed surprise to learn this morning that the steamer had not yet gone to pieces.

It is out of the question to think of saving anything from the wreck. It lies in twelve feet of water with rocks all around and with the heavy sea that is running now no craft of any size could approach within a mile or two without danger of striking the rocks. The vessel set low in the water, bottom punctured and her hold full of water.

Captain Randall of the wrecked steamer attributes the disaster to the thick fog. The ship ran into a fog bank at Point Gorda, was approached. The master of the unfortunate steamer stated that Third Officer Holmes was on the bridge at the time the vessel struck. As nearly as he can give an account of the wreck, it is as follows:

"The St. Paul sailed from San Francisco on Wednesday at 11 o'clock a. m. and was accompanied by a company of seas and very little fog until she approached Point Gorda. The first warning of danger the officer on the bridge received was the roar of the surf on the shore. The course immediately was changed and a moment later the ship struck, bow first, awakening everybody aboard. The fog was thick and even the shore could not be seen. The passengers were unusually calm under the circumstances. We had aboard good passengers and there was no confusion. The bow struck first, as near as could be determined, but the ship is now well on the rocks and her hold is filled with water. The main deck is under water.

"At 7 o'clock a small boat was manned and sent to the lights off Cape Mendocino in order to hail any passing steamer and notify her of the disaster, in order that the passengers might be rescued. At 8 o'clock I saw a man on the shore and hailed him through a trumpet telling him to hasten to the nearest telephone and notify Eureka of our predicament. The man was on handbells and putting up to his animal, he started post haste, not even waiting to learn the name of the vessel.

"Within a few hours other people began to arrive upon the shore and two lines were run to the beach, where spectators made them fast. It was my intention to send all the passengers ashore if assistance by water did not arrive by daylight. As the vessel lay with her stern high up on the rocks and seas were quite rough on the starboard side, the port boats had to be lowered. At 2 o'clock the steamer Vanguard hovered in sight and came to an anchorage about a mile away and the work of transferring the passengers began. All the port boats were lowered and the starboard boats were swung in the port davits. Soon after the tug Ranger appeared and some of the passengers were transferred to her. At 5 o'clock everyone was safe aboard either the Vanguard or the Ranger or had gone on the Pomona, and the St. Paul was left deserted.

Among those arriving here on the Pomona was Third Officer W. H. Holmes, who was on the bridge of the St. Paul when she struck. He refused to talk about the wreck until he had seen the agents of the vessel.

Fireman Kawcutt told a thrilling story of the experience of the first boatload of people sent from the St. Paul. He spoke of the highest feat of the self-possession and bravery of all on board, and said that as the boat was lousy it would soon have foundered had it not been picked up by the Buirt's reef lightship.

E. J. Campbell of Portland, Oregon, said there was no confusion on board, and that after the wreck everything possible was done by the officers of the vessel.

Mrs. F. G. Reeser was among the passengers on the first lifeboat. She was enthusiastic in praise of the conduct of the officers after the ship struck and especially of the heroism of the boat's crew.

J. G. Davis, Spokane said he was asleep when the vessel struck.

"I dressed myself," said he, "and went out on deck and found them lowering the boats. Everything was done with perfect order."

The statements of other passengers were similar to these and all agree that though they suffered considerable hardship, they consider themselves fortunate to have escaped with their lives.

ELECTRIC RAILROAD FROM SANTA MONICA TO HUENEME BEGUN.

SANTA MONICA, Oct. 6.—Work has been commenced on an electric railroad from Santa Monica to Hueneeme. The line of the new road is the Hueneeme and Port Los Angeles, of which corporation Mrs. Jay Rindge is president and H. W. Lemcke, general manager. The company is capitalized at $1,000,000, and will have its offices in Santa Monica. The road follows the beach and in Ventura county will connect with the Burson road for Ventura and thence to Santa Barbara. Rails, rolling stock and equipment have been ordered in the East. Several hundred yards of track have already been laid and a force of 200 men will soon be at work.

Printers' Strike in Omaha.

OMAHA, Oct. 6.—But three job printing houses were affected by the strike of union job printers which was inaugurated here today. About thirty men are out.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 6.—The steamer Alameda which ran ashore near Fort Point last Saturday, was floated this evening.

PEORIA, Ill., Oct. 6.—A total of thirteen indictments have thus far been returned against Newton C. Dougherty, city superintendent of schools and president of the Peoria National Bank. Ten of them are for embezzlement and three for forgery. Forty more are being drawn up by the state's attorney's office. It was announced from that office today that the total would reach more than 200.

Dougherty is in receipt of messages from all over the country, expressing sympathy and belief in his innocence. According to a statement made by a member of the grand jury today, hundreds of pieces of school script which, it is alleged, have been changed after being signed by the president of the school board are missing. A committee appointed by the school board to continue the investigation after the grand jury gets through, announced through its chairman, J. S. Stevens, today that they would go back over the books of the board for twenty years.

In some cases both stubs and vouchers are missing, representing, according to the grand jury, large amounts.

Edwin J. Schnebly, discount and exchange clerk at the Peoria National bank—the man who first discovered irregularities in Dougherty's method of handling school funds, made a statement today. He said:

"I took charge of the individual books at the bank seven years ago and shortly thereafter I began to notice the queer methods Mr. Dougherty had of handling the funds of the Peoria school board. He would make checks payable to various local firms and give his personal check for a smaller amount. I called the attention of the bank officials to this state of affairs and was informed that it was none of my business. I was then transferred to the discount and change department. Mr. Dougherty's dealings were carried on as follows:

"He would bring in checks for large amounts, payable in most instances to a school furniture firm in Chicago or a plumbing firm in St. Louis. With these checks he would purchase New York, Chicago or St. Louis exchange, made payable to his own order. Upon examination of the endorsements on the drafts I found that in many instances they had been used in his private business affairs.

"In some cases he would endorse the names of local firms on the draft, without their knowledge, putting his own initials under the signature. I laid the matter before Mr. Cook, the national bank examiner for this district. Upon his advice I laid the matter before the attorney-general at Springfield. He advised me to take it to the state's attorney of Peoria county, which I did. I also laid the matter before S. F. C. Spring, cashier of the bank. Transactions of that kind then ceased. In explaining that matter to me Mr. Dougherty said that he kept three sets of funds in New York, Chicago and St. Louis.

"When I was called before the grand jury there were exhibited many changed checks. In one instance a check which was charged to the school fund had been raised from $24 to $2450. The stub showed $24.

"Another was drawn for $27.50. The stub, which had originally read $27, had been raised to $2750. The last figures on the stub were in green ink, the first two in black.

"I was discharged from the bank only last Saturday."

NEW WORLD'S RECORD FOR SIX FURLONGS ON CIRCULAR TRACK.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—D. C. Johnson's Roeben, carrying the heavy weight of 147 pounds, made a new world's record for six furlongs on a circular track when he won the Manhattan handicap at Belmont Park today. He stepped the distance in 1:11 3/5, which is 1-5 of a second faster than Dick Wells' time made at Washington Park, Chicago, in August, 1903. The race run by Roeben today stamps him as the best sprinter in America.

JAPAN'S POLICY OF REPRESSION

DISCONTENT WITH PEACE TREATY IS TO BE SMOTHERED.

It is Feared that This May Result In Acts of Violence if Persisted In.

TOKIO, Oct. 6, 11 a. m.—In passing the peace treaty, the privy council has clearly impressed upon the anti-peace agitators the impossibility of a refusal to ratify it. The energies of the latter will now likely be concentrated on an attack upon the cabinet. Public demonstrations expressing the national indignation against the peace treaty, will, it is believed, cease, but this outward suppression of feeling will only create a strong undercurrent of disaffection which if allowed to grow, will swell the popular rage. Unwise resistance and any attempt to suppress popular opinion may, it is feared, give rise to acts of violence.

Well informed people, while appreciating the wisdom of putting a stop to the war, are indignant at the half-measure policy of the government, as exhibited, for instance, in the partition of the island of Sakhalin.

The public is keenly intent, awaiting an explanation from the government, but the promise to convene a special session of the diet immediately after the conclusion of the peace, not having been fulfilled, it is growing impatient.

TALK NO. 73

GRAB GLASSES

For people who require glasses for both distance and reading and yet who will not wear bifocals there is another design known as grab glasses.

The reading glasses are put into a frame called a grab frame and when the patient desires to read he has only to drop his grab frames against his distance glasses. This saves changing glasses every time one wants to read or write or sew.

We have a new form of this grab front which is quite neat and easily adjusted. Glad to show it to you anytime if you are interested.

KILLED AS HE RAN

McGEE QUICKER THAN BURGLAR HE PURSUED.

"Dutch Henry," a Worthless Character, Robs Store and is Shot Down by One Armed Man.

Giles McGee, a one-armed storekeeper of Temperance colony, shot and killed Henry Martin, who had burglarized his place, at about 6 o'clock this morning. Martin died within a few seconds after being shot, and his body is now lying at the morgue, awaiting inquest today. Upon the office no arrest will be made, at least for the present. Martin has been hanging about the saloons of Fresno for several years.

The first word that was received of the killing, was early this morning, immediately after the killing, when Giles McGee telephoned in to the sheriff's office, saying that he had shot a burglar. He said that as soon as the burglar had come out to take charge of the body he would come in and give himself up at the sheriff's office, if they did not want to come out for him. The message was received by Night Jailor Rutherford, who notified Sheriff Collins.

Finding the Body. Dr. Cowan was also notified and started out at once with a dead wagon for the scene of the shooting. This was near what is known as the old Centerville road, which is the continuation of Belmont avenue east, and runs south of the Barton vineyard and Nevada colony. The McGee brothers run a store at the southwest corner of Temperance colony, where the Centerville road crosses the north and south avenue that runs from the Jefferson school district in the north to Lone Star in the south. The coroner found Martin's body near a clump of trees to the south of the road, by a group of three trees and within a few feet of an irrigation ditch. This was about 300 yards from the store, to the southwest. The body had been looked after by a group of neighbors who had been attracted and stayed until the coroner came. The body was at once brought to town.

On the way in, the coroner met Deputy Sheriff Payne and Assistant District Attorney Kauke, going out to make an investigation. They found McGee and at once went over the ground with him.

The Burglary. Giles McGee had been in town the night before to attend the theater, and arrived home very late. He and his two brothers and his son, Eugene McGee, all sleep in the back of the store, and board with a Mrs. Bartlett, about 100 yards to the northeast. In the morning, the two brothers that had been home during the evening before, and the twelve-year-old boy, got up shortly after 5 o'clock, leaving Giles McGee to sleep a little longer. On their way out, one of the brothers took from a hiding place a sack of coin, containing about $40, and laid it on the counter, near a set of scales, in preparation for the day's business. Then all three left the building by the front way, which faces to the south, went around to the other side, and started for breakfast at the neighbor's.

A few minutes later, the sleeping man in the rear of the building was awakened by a noise in the store room, arose and looked out through the partition door. He saw a stranger helping himself to some canned goods. He ran back to his bed, pulled on a pair of overalls, found his pistol, a 44-caliber, and ran out into the other room, just as the burglar, who had taken alarm, was passing out of the door.

The one-armed man called to Martin to halt, but he paid no attention, and ran to a wheel he had left standing outside. He had the canned goods slung over his back in a sack, and a small sack of coin in his hand. He mounted the wheel and started down the road, the barefooted man after him.

As McGee left the front of the store he shouted out in the direction of the other house that they had been robbed, and one of the other brothers heard him and followed after. The burglar had started down the road, but could make little headway, as the track had been newly covered with oil, and clung to his wheel. Finding the road no good, he left it, still on his wheel, trying to ride over the rough ground of the adjoining field, now going in a southwesterly direction.

Shot Just in Time. Martin was 100 yards ahead of McGee, who did not want to shoot him, but did want his money back. He shot at random and pursued in his bare feet. Across the field they went, Martin making for a group of three trees on the bank of the old creek, now used as an irrigation ditch. As the fellow was making good headway, McGee shot a second time, still at random. At this, the fellow left his wheel and started to run. He dodged around the trees, fell to his knees behind one, and as McGee came up, drew a pistol out of his coat pocket. The pursuer was quicker, shot and hit him. The pistol dropped from the burglar's hands, he lurched forward, rose to his full height, started to run away, and when he had got about twenty feet, fell backward and was dead.

The Search. The coroner examined the body, and found on the man a set of skeleton keys, twenty-four on three rings. Four of them would unlock the front door of the store, which had been left locked. His pistol, an automatic, self-cocking gun, was lying where he was first shot, sprinkled with blood. He still had the money, but had dropped the sack of goods while running.

After getting the story and going over the grounds, Mr. Kauke said the story was plainly shooting a man while in the commission of a felony, and there was no need of making an arrest. McGee had already come to town and offered himself at the sheriff's office, but he was told to appear at the inquest.

The McGees. The McGee boys are quiet, well respected men, and during the forenoon a large number of the residents of Temperance colony were in town, of foring to go bond for the one-armed brother, if he had been arrested. The men have run the store and saloon at this cross-roads for some years.

The Burglar. Henry Martin, the burglar, is about thirty-five years old, and under the middle height. He has no relatives here, but is supposed to have a brother in Stockton. He has been hanging about the saloons of this city for some years; and about two years ago accidentally shot Harry Wilder in the leg in a lodging house. He was commonly known as "Dutch Henry."

Martin has been three times on the jail records for small offenses. A year ago last spring he was arrested twice, once for disturbing the peace and once for vagrancy, serving short terms. On April 4th of this year, he was arrested for battery, but there was no prosecution. At this time in searching him a set of skeleton keys and an automatic pistol were found in his possession, which are supposed to be the same as he had when killed. The officers kept on the lookout for him for a while, but never detected him in any crooked work.

Had Late Papers. When Martin was searched, he was found to have on him a copy of the Morning Republican of yesterday's issue. The officers do not know whether this means that he had left town that morning, or had robbed a paper box.

The Inquest. All day yesterday, a crowd of curiosity seekers, and men who had known Martin, kept passing through the morgue to view the body. He had been shot clear through by McGee's bullet. It had entered the right breast just above the nipple, and as he was kneeling, passed downward and across, coming out through the small of the back on the left side.

The inquest will be held by Dr. Cowan at 9:30 o'clock this morning.

SUING AN INFANT

MOTHER WANTS PROPERTY TITLE VESTED IN HER NAME.

Two Wives Tell Judge Austin That They Have Not Been Cared for by Husbands.

A 4-year old girl was made the defendant in a civil suit yesterday. The mother of the child is the plaintiff, Mrs. Estella A. Cummings. She is suing judgment decreeing that all property owned by her husband, Albert M. Cummings, who died on September 11th, at the time of his death, be vested in the plaintiff.

Last May Mrs. Cummings contracted to buy a $11,000 ranch from J. F. Humphreys. She paid $600 down, her own money, and a mortgage was given for the remainder. On all papers her husband's name appeared although in fact the wife was owner of the money that did the work.

A guardian ad litem is asked for little Zula, Mrs. Cummings asks title to the ranch and $33,000 in Cummings' name in the Reelley State bank. Joel H. Smith and George B. Graham represent the plaintiff.

Troubles of Mismatched. Hattie M. Hoppeck is no longer the full legal wife of Frank E. Hoppeck. Her suit for divorce was filed in August and yesterday Judge Austin gave her an interlocutory decree. She declared that her husband had left her to the charity of friends though on his salary of $75 a month he was able to support her. Crichton & St. John appeared for her.

Annie V. McLachlan told a story very similar to the one told by Mrs. Hoppeck. She said her husband, John V. McLachlan, left her to her friends. Judge Austin was not satisfied that it was shown that McLachlan was able to earn the living for the family and the case was put over until today. Unless it is shown that the husband could work and would not give money to his wife the divorce will not be allowed. Get the $500.

For two fractured ribs and a fractured bone in her shoulder, Nellie May Lytle, aged 10 years, has been given $500 by the Southern Pacific. Yesterday Judge Austin signed an order making her father, William N. Lytle, her guardian to receive the money. The girl was injured in a collision near Harney, Nev., on September 19th.

Mortgage Foreclosure. Suit was commenced yesterday by John C. Moore against M. M. Nishkan to foreclose a mortgage. On March 23, 1903, the People's Savings bank of Fresno loaned Nishkan $2500 on his ranch. The bank assigned to Dan Brown Jr., who assigned to Moore. There is $1600 of the $2500 still unpaid. M. B. and E. M. Harris are attorneys for the plaintiff.

Henry B. Bier and Conrad Kinzel have given $150 bond for Barbara Klem as administrator of the estate of Philip Klem. F. P. Adelsback has filed his oath as a notary public.

THE BOND ELECTION.
Proclamation has been made of an election on Tuesday, October 31, to determine the question of issuing bonds for a sewage disposal system, and also, as a separate proposal, to decide upon the issuance of bonds for a new city hall. Both proposals will probably carry, though there will be considerable argument, relevant and irrelevant, against them both.

On the sewer question, there is only a single aspect in which there can be any difference of opinion at all. There is no division in regard to the increase of the sewer within the city limits and the additional outfall sewer to carry off the surplus sewage. And there is complete unanimity as to the need of some method of disposing of the sewage, at the end of the outfall. The only possible question would be as to the merits of the particular plan of disposal now proposed. As $125,000 of the estimated $175,000 is to be for the undisturbed part of the plan, and only $50,000 for the septic tank and sewage farm, it will be seen that as to nearly the whole bond issue, public opinion is unanimous. Unless there is some very decisive objection to the manner in which the $50,000 part is to be done, the imperative need of the $125,000 part, and the even more imperative need of something in the $50,000 part, would seem to be conclusive in favor of the whole bond issue.

As to the actual merits of the septic tank and sewage farm plan, it is impossible for the people to have an independent or very intelligent opinion. It is chiefly a matter of faith in the engineer who devised the plans. No one questioned the ability of City Engineer Teilman, nor now questions that of City Engineer Hoxie, to lay out a sewer and outfall system. If this were all, there would not have been three failures to carry the sewer bonds under the last administration, and there would not be even the shadow of a doubt in regard to them now. But the knowledge of both Mr. Teilman and Mr. Hoxie or any other Fresno engineer of septic tanks and sewage farming is derived almost wholly from the reading of books and reports. This book knowledge is not to be despised, and is really worth much more than the people often think it is. The book knowledge of an educated engineer is worth far more than any knowledge, either book or practical, of an untrained man. But if there are books and authorities on this sewage disposal question, the men who wrote those books are certainly better authorities than any man can become merely by reading the books. The price of a single abortive election, such as we have now had three times, would more than pay for the advisory services of the author of the best of those books, and the Republican has for five years advocated sending for some such man, to pass on any plan before it is submitted to the people. Neither the past nor the present city government has chosen to take this course, and we hope that the result of the present election will show it not to be necessary. But if there is any doubt at all of the practically unanimous passage of the bonds, it is unquestionably due to the failure to take this step before adopting a final plan.

Without much more knowledge of the detailed plan than the general public will have, it looks to us on its face to be a satisfactory one. Septic tanks, in combination with sewage farming, have worked elsewhere, and should work here. It is proposed to buy the necessary land under condemnation, at its appraised value. This should dispose of the "Burleigh bugaboo." Mr. Burleigh is deservedly unpopular, and the fact that he is now receiving his water fee and $1800 a year besides for taking care of sewage which he does not take care of, has of course not disposed people favorably toward any sewage proposal in which he is involved. But this land is selected, not because it is Burleigh's, but because it is in direct line of the necessary sewer drainage. The land will be bought under condemnation, thus preventing any hold-up. It is neither a favor nor a hardship to Burleigh to take his land from him at an appraised valuation. The city can then either run the sewage farm itself, if it can make it pay, or Mr. Burleigh stands ready, for the water and $1 a year, to administer it for the city and stand all lawsuits and their consequences. The city, owning the land, could compel him to keep his agreement or else put him out. This is a fair proposition, and a safe one.

Considering, then, that all the proposed sewer improvement is necessary, and all of it but a single feature unanimously approved, and that this single feature is not substantially opposed, but merely not enough understood to produce an independent opinion, and further that careful precautions have been taken to protect the interests of the public at this, the only point at which they are not prepared to protect themselves, it seems that the only prudent course is to vote for the bonds unanimously. We can not all be expert sewage engineers, but we can all be public-spirited citizens of Fresno, willing to give our consent to the attainment of an imperative improvement, by the only practical method now open to get it.

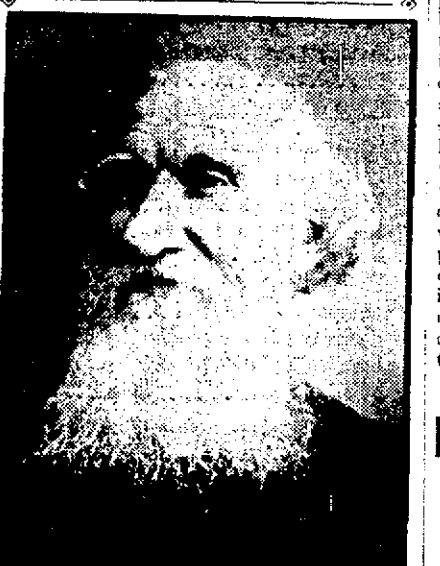

Vote for the bonds.
The question of a city hall will be submitted at the same election, but as a separate proposal. The Republican doubted the policy of submitting the two proposals at this time, not because there is any doubt of the need of a city hall, but in fear that the proposal of city hall bonds might jeopardize the success of the much more immediately imperative sewer bonds. However, since the two proposals are now submitted to two separate elections, (though both held at the same time and place) this objection is in a measure removed. At least, the juxtaposition is not likely to hurt the sewer bonds, and it could not conceivably hurt the city hall bonds worse than an entire failure to propose them would have done. Of the need of a city hall, there is no doubt at all. The present city hall holds only a small part of the city officials, human and equine, and is a disgrace to these. The rest are in unsatisfactory rented offices. An adequate city hall must be built, before many years, and unless there is risk to the sewer bonds involved in the attempt, now is as good a time as any to build it. It is to be hoped that these sewer bonds will pass, this, the fourth time they have been proposed. Everybody favors the completion of the sewer system, but if everybody, favoring the general project, opposes each particular form of it, the result is simply a deadlock. The deadlock has lasted five years and three elections already. That is long enough.

ANNUAL CONFERENCE
CHOOSES SAN JOSE AS NEXT MEETING PLACE.

Women's Foreign Missionary Society
Begins Session—Committees Will Report Today.

The third day of the South Methodist annual conference was marked by the selection of San Jose as the place for the next meeting, and the beginning of the consideration of foreign missions.

Dr. J. C. Simmons.

The work of reporting on the work of the various churches was concluded, it being seen that the local organizations are in flourishing condition.

Rev. W. E. Vaughn, editor of the Pacific Methodist Advocate, reported a prosperous year.

Bishop Morrison gave an address on the church's work in education. He spoke particularly of the work in the Northwest.

L. C. Renfro was referred to a committee for a place on the superannuated list.

Mrs. Emma O. Burks of Oakland, treasurer of the Conference Women's Home Missionary society reported on the work of that organization.

Women's Foreign Missions.

The Conference Women's Foreign Missionary society occupied the time from 1:30 to 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon. Miss Alice Price, the president, occupying the chair. The evening devotional exercises were conducted by Dr. J. C. Simmons, the Nestor of the conference.

Various committees were announced by the president. Mrs. W. T. Maupin delivered an address of welcome, to which Mrs. J. M. Powell of Selma, responded on behalf of the delegates.

Dr. C. F. Reid, for twenty-five years a missionary in China and Korea, delivered an address on the foreign mission work of the women.

He stated that there are now 3000 woman missionaries in the field, whose efforts are seconded by 6000 native workers. The women, he said, are accomplishing more than their brothers, in that they are organizing and educating the children and young people.

The president delivered an eloquent address on the same subject, which was followed by reports from the other officers.

Afternoon Session.
At 3:30 o'clock, Rev. C. C. Thompson preached from the text: "I saw a new heaven and a new earth, for the first time; and there was no more sea." Rev. Thompson is an eloquent speaker and he held his audience well high spell bound during the delivery of the sermon. He began by referring to the enemies that existed for a time between the people on the two sides of Mason and Dixon's line. This was represented by a dark bloody sea. This sea has been blotted out and was done by the gospel, which is uniting all peoples on both sides of the seas. The conquests of the gospel are to be complete.

From Valley Papers
Oil is as much of a staple as wheat or corn and there is a potential market for all the oil that the Kern county fields can produce. With the full agreement of all the cooks that are stirring at the broth there is little doubt that this potential market can be made an actual one and that the price of fuel oil can be advanced to the point where it comes in actual competition with coal.—Bakersfield Echo.

A well founded rumor was circulated in Fresno yesterday to the effect that the man who killed a woman in that city the other day, wanted to die and had at first decided that as a murder should be speedily avenged by legal procedure, he would take that route to the other side, but having committed the crime a second thought convinced him of the improbability of conviction in that county, so he killed himself.—Madera Tribune.

Assemblyman Dorsey of Kern has been interviewed by the Californian regarding the sensational statement made by Assemblyman Mitchell that the names of members who took bribe money to vote against the Ralston anti-trust bill will be disclosed. Mr. Dorsey says that he never got any of the money and doesn't know that anybody else did. As no names have yet been mentioned by Mitchell it seems premature to begin details of guilt.—Mature Register.

The Higgins Case.
Fresno is a funny town. A man may shoot another three times through the back and when this dainty piece of homicide has been effectually completed, put a polish on the work by shooting him through the heart and still have a verdict of "not guilty." The tears of his wife and child were sufficient to blot out the facts.—S. F. News Letter.

The Fresno jury that acquitted Higgins has some of Madera's bungling jurors shut up in a dark closet when it comes to real darkness. Higgins (drunk) in his own house, murdered his friend Dean Cortis, whom he had invited there, because he claimed, at the trial, that his murdered friend had insulted his wife and that as he was drunk he had a perfect right to send a sentimental bullet into his friend's vitals. The jury thought so, too. If they did any thinking they never thought that Higgins, by coming into his house drunk had insulted his own wife, that he had insulted her doubly when he brought with him another drunken man, that they were turning a murderer loose who would, likely as not, snuff one of their own lives out the next day if enough whiskey were installed in his carcass to put him in the proper mood; that the example made of the culprit is but an incentive to demolish more life. They did not. And they did not think of a dozen other things that thinking juries think of.—Madera Times.

HUGHES NAMED FOR MAYORALTY

INSURANCE INQUISITOR CHOOSES BY REPUBLICANS.

Unknown Even In New York He Has Jumped Into Fame All At Once.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Charles E. Hughes, principal counsel of the insurance investigation committee of the legislature was tonight unanimously nominated as candidate for mayor of New York by the Republican city convention in Carnegie hall. The other nominations were: Richard Strong, of Brooklyn, for comptroller and James T. Wells of the Bronx for president of the board of aldermen.

Senator Page read the platform, which embraced a denunciation of the Democratic municipal administration, affirmation of the principle of non-partisanship in municipal affairs, a demand for the passage of legislation during the next session of the legislature to insure life insurance policy holders a more rigid scrutinizing of life insurance companies and the control of future subways by the municipality and the establishment of a municipal lighting plant.

Hughes was asked later if he had any statement of his position to make for publication.

"There's nothing just now," he said.

Richard Young, of Brooklyn, nominated for comptroller, said tonight at his home he would not be a candidate.

Dougherty's Bank Closed.

PEORIA, Ill., Oct. 6.—At a meeting of the directors of the Peoria National bank late tonight it was unanimously voted to close the doors of the institution and ask the controller to take charge. Since the indictment of N. C. Dougherty, until yesterday president of the bank, on many counts of forgery, hundreds of depositors have withdrawn their accounts and this caused the hasty action tonight.

Ten Killed in a Quarry.
GRANVILLE, N. Y., Oct. 6.—Ten men met instant death at the quarry of the Vermont Slate company today when about 100 feet of the bank crashed down without warning, burying the victim. Five bodies were recovered, but it is doubtful whether the others can be reached before next week. The dead, with the exception of John Williams, president of the company, are all Illinoisians.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 6.—The Republican League began suit in the circuit court today to compel the board of election commissioners to purge the great register. It is alleged that 400 persons are illegally registered.

FEARFUL CRIME OF A PHYSICIAN

OUTRAGED YOUNG GIRL AND GAVE HER MORPHINE.

Her Death Resulted and He Tried to Commit Suicide by the Same Method.

CHICAGO, Oct. 6.—Dr. Oliver Hart, aged 39 years, a physician residing in the suburb of Rogers Park, is in the custody of the police pending further investigation into the death of Irene Klockow, 10 years of age, which occurred yesterday in the residence of the physician.

The girl died in a bed room of the residence in which she and the physician had been locked for several hours. It is the opinion of the authorities, based on the facts disclosed at the inquiry held today, that the girl was maltreated and then poisoned in an attempt to conceal the crime. After finding that it was impossible for the child to recover, the physician swallowed morphine and lay in an unconscious condition all of last night and during the greater part of today.

The girl was taken about a year since from the Illinois Industrial Home for Girls by Dr. Hart and his wife, who desired a girl who could serve in a measure as companion for Mrs. Hart, who is but 17 years of age, and at the same time do light work about the house. Yesterday two sisters of Irene Klockow called at the Hart residence and in company with Mrs. Hart went on a shopping expedition to the city. Irene complained of a headache and was left alone in the house with the physician. What happened in the house is not known exactly, but the first intimation that anything was wrong was a telephone message sent by Dr. Hart to a neighbor, Mrs. Richard Cortis.

Dr. Hart told the woman to summon help at once as he was dying. Mrs. Cortis sent word to a physician and then ran over to the Hart residence. She let her daughter climb through a cellar window and unlock the front door. After entering she called to Dr. Hart and he shouted from the floor above: "Here I am. You will have to break through another door."

Mrs. Cortis threw her weight against the bedroom door, and broke it open. The Klockow girl lay lying on the bed partially dressed, her hair disarranged and much of it torn from her head and the room showed evidence of a desperate struggle. The girl was unconscious and evidently dying, and Dr. Hart informed Mrs. Cortis that she had swallowed morphine pills after he had given her some morphine. Dr. Hart went into an adjoining room and swallowed a large quantity of morphine.

The efforts of Dr. Hulsterson, a physician who had been called to revive the girl, were unavailing and she died in a short time. Dr. Hart was given restoratives and Hulsterson labored on him for several hours before being convinced that he would ultimately recover. A detail of police officers was placed at Dr. Hart's bedside, and he was practically under arrest until late this afternoon when the coroner's inquiry over the body of the Klockow girl was adjourned. Dr. Hart was then formally taken into custody.

The inquiry, which brought out no facts other than those stated above, was adjourned until next Tuesday, at which time the coroner's physician will present his report. The police, however, declare that they will not have the slightest difficulty in proving by circumstantial evidence that Dr. Hart gave morphine to the girl and is responsible for her death.

What would you think of any dealer who offered to produce a factory gown or a factory shoe or a factory suit at the prices they are retailed for today? Who but the most clever manufacturer with improved machinery, large capital, expert operators and the specialization of labor is capable of producing desirable merchandise for far less than one home made hat would cost. Weather Conditions.
The storm, central yesterday on Puget Sound, has moved slowly eastward and is now central over Alberta, causing a continuance of rainfall over the Pacific coast states from Eureka northward. An area of high barometric pressure appears off the coast of northern California, accompanied by clearer, cooler weather in the interior. An area of low pressure overlies the Gulf of Mexico, causing local rains along the Gulf and South Atlantic coasts. The weather is generally warmer, except over the region bordering on the Gulf and the New England states. In California the weather is clear, slightly cooler in the interior and generally cloudy along the coast.

CONFESSES MURDER

GOING TO GALLOWES SAYS MAN IN PRISON IS INNOCENT.

Woods Killed Mike Kinney Here in 1891, for Which Another Was Sentenced for Life.

In the shadow of the gallows Frank Woods yesterday confessed that he killed a man in Fresno in October, 1891, and that an innocent man was sentenced to spend the rest of his life in prison for the crime. Woods confessed to thrusting a knife into Michael Kinney in Tom Burdick's saloon, and he said that a man named Washoe is now doing time in consequence. The man he called Washoe is Thomas Washoe Kelley, a tramp, who was given a life sentence in November, immediately following the murder.

The story of the killing and the subsequent trial of Washoe Kelley for the murder as shown in the files of the Republican is of such character as to make it probable that Woods' confession is an honest one.

The dispatch from San Quentin concerning the confession as received by the Republican follows:

SAN QUENTIN, Oct. 6.—Frank Woods, alias "St. Louis Frank," was executed in the state prison here today for the murder of Policeman Eugene Robinson in San Francisco three years ago. He was given the last, and just before the black cap was drawn he said:

"Well, boys, tell them that you saw me, and see that my grave's kept green."

He wanted to make a statement from the scaffold, but permission was refused by the warden, to whom he confessed this morning that he had fired the shots which killed Officer Robinson.

The policeman was the victim of a gang of young men whom he attempted to arrest after they had tried to rob the safe in a cemetery. A running fight ensued, during which Robinson was fatally shot.

Woods in his confession said:

"On the 21 day of October, 1891, in Fresno, Cal., while in an intoxicated condition, I entered the railroad avenue Circle Bar saloon and seeing a man behind the bar, whom I took for a certain party with whom I had a quarrel, I rushed behind the bar and stabbed him with a pocket knife that I took from my pocket. I cut the man in the neck, from the effect of which, as I subsequently learned, he died. I did not learn his name and can only identify him by describing him as wearing a cork leg. I have understood that a man named Washoe has since been arrested for the offense, and is now doing time for the crime which I committed."

The crime for which Thomas Washoe Kelley was sent to prison is without doubt the one to which Woods has confessed.

Michael Kinney, a young Irishman with a cork leg, was with six or seven disreputable men, who were arm off, drinking on the night of October 2, 1891. They went into Tom Burdick's saloon then on Front street between Tulare and Mariposa streets, where Thomas M. Mitchell was bartender. The gang seemed to turn on Kinney and roughly handled him. Mitchell drew his revolver and ordered the men out of the house. All of them left except Kinney. Later Kinney stepped to the back door when suddenly he was struck with a knife by some one Mitchell could not see.

Mitchell said he saw the one-armed man of the gang, Washoe Kelley, in from the place. At the time of the murder he said he heard nothing from the dying man. At the trial he said Kinney muttered that "the one-armed man did it."

Sheriff Hensley and his deputies searched for all the gang. The morning after the murder Kelley walked into the sheriff's office. He said then:

"I heard this morning that the officers are looking for me, and I thought I would come in and see what was wanted. I am told that I am accused of killing a man last night. I didn't do it and I don't know anything about it. When I left the saloon I went out to a tree and slept there till morning. When I came in they told me what had happened and I thought I would come in and surrender. My name is Thomas Washoe Kelley."

Kelley was a typical tramp. He declared to the last that he was innocent. Judge Holmes appointed Attorney Hood to defend him. District Attorney Tupper and his deputy, Welsh, prosecuted. On the 10th were Henry Decker, S. Decker, P. B. Millett, J. J. Bates, D. M. Wilson, E. M. Drury, B. R. Phillips, J. H. Brown, J. B. Rutledge, H. Wren, D. H. Cobb and S. J. Hunter.

In the course of his address to the jury District Attorney Tupper adverted to the fact that if Kelley knew of witnesses who could have shown that he was innocent he should have had them in court. This aroused the prisoner, who said:

"I had no chance to get my witnesses. I was put in jail and for six days I sent continually for the sheriff, and he would not come. My witnesses left and I could not get them. I have been given no chance."

"Didn't you have an attorney?" asked Mr. Tupper.

"No," replied Kelley. "I had no lawyer until long after."

Then Tupper said to the jury:

"It is no pleasure to me to prosecute this prisoner who sits here crying. If he is innocent I would rather have my arm cut off than see him convicted. See that he gets justice."

Woods' confession came fourteen years and four days after Michael Kinney, the man with the cork leg, was killed. Kelley was taken to prison on January 5, 1892.

ANGLO-RUSSIAN ALLIANCE TALK

ANCIENT ENEMIES MAY PATCH UP A FRIENDSHIP.

If Russia Desires Peace in Central Asia Great Britain Is Ready to Act.

LONDON, Oct. 6.—Following closely upon the publication of the text of the Anglo-Russian treaty has come considerable talk of the possibility of an understanding between Great Britain and Russia. All the newspapers are devoting columns to the discussion of the question, pointing out that if Russia is sincere in her expression of a desire for peace in central Asia, there is no reason why the two ancient enemies should not come to an agreement that will not only assure peace, but clear away the suspicions leading to friction which have existed for years.

That negotiations with this object in view are pending seems possible, according to the rumors about the foreign office. The Russian ambassador since his return from his holidays a fortnight ago, and the fact that Foreign Secretary Lansdowne, who returned from his vacation to publish the text of the Anglo-Russian treaty, remained at his office continually since then.

Count Benckendorff, the Russian ambassador, had a long interview with Lord Lansdowne at the foreign office yesterday and the latter left London immediately afterward for Edinburgh, Scotland, where Premier Balfour is present as minister in attendance to King Edward. Of course, the visits of the Russian ambassador to the foreign office may have been connected with Emperor Nicholas' invitation to Great Britain to participate in the second peace conference at The Hague, but Great Britain had already answered his majesty's preliminary invitations.

It is thought here that the present is an opportune moment for reaching a better understanding between the two countries, both the British and Russian papers having strongly advocated it for the past week. The position of the British government was clearly stated in a speech delivered by General Balfour, president of the local government board, yesterday, in which he said:

"Great Britain has no intention of making aggressive movements in Central Asia. Our object is defense and peace and if the Russian government desires to come to an understanding with us with reference to our respective interests in that part of the world it will not find the British government backward in readiness to consider any proposals which it might desire to put forward."

The newspaper discussions have reached a much wider range and include suggestions for agreements which, if carried out and lived up to, would make Europe a family in which there would be no differences. One of the suggestions which most appeals to British officialdom and the London press, is that Russia, Germany and France should subscribe to the terms of the Anglo-Russian treaty. It is pointed out if they are sincere in their protestations of a desire for peace in Asia, there is no reason why they should not subscribe to a treaty which has this object in view. The suggestion that Great Britain should more fully recognize Russia's position in Southern Turkey has not been given much consideration in London, though possibly this may be one of the points on which the agreement, if reached, will be based and it may be a return for Russian guarantees of her often repeated assertion that she does not desire to advance any further towards the Indian frontier.

CHICAGO MISSED AMERICAN FLAG

ST. LOUIS, THE TAIL ENDERS, DASHED THEIR CHANCES.

Philadelphia Now Has Clear Course to the Pennant—Tacoma's Schedule Again Changed.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 6.—It devolved upon St. Louis, the tail-enders in the league pennant race, to finally head off the Chicago American League baseball team and drive the final spike in the latter's aspirations for the 1905 pennant, when the coveted piece of bunting was almost within its grasp, and to give Philadelphia a clear title to the American league championship. Almost as remarkable as the now historic burst of speed displayed by Chicago on its last Eastern trip was the reversal of form of the locals when they drove Dr. White, Manager White's premier pitcher, from the box in the third inning and snowed the visiting team under an avalanche of hits and runs, practically clinching the game, which they finally won by a score of 6 to 2. With two runs already counted in the fateful third, Manager Jones started to substitute Walsh for White. There was a hurried consultation and Jones gave White another opportunity. The next two St. Louis men to face the Chicago pitcher hit safely, Tom Jones for a double and Koehler for a home run. Walsh was then sent in and held the locals safely the remainder of the game, but the damage was done. Attendance, 1300. Score: R. H. E. St. Louis..... 6 9 1 Chicago..... 2 7 0

Batteries—Glade and Spencer; White, Walsh and Sullivan.
At Boston—By a lucky bunching of hits in the eighth inning and a couple of stolen bases, Boston scored two runs and won today's game. Attendance, 2200. Score: R. H. E. Boston..... 3 7 2 New York..... 1 6 4

Batteries—Gibson and Armbruster; Clarkson and Connor.
At Cleveland—Cleveland won a loose game from Detroit today. Joss pitched shut out ball, but errors gave Detroit three runs. Attendance, 1100. Score: R. H. E. Cleveland..... 5 10 5 Detroit..... 3 7 2

Batteries—Joss and Bluelow; Donovan and Warner.
At Washington—Washington defeated Philadelphia in a loosely played game today. Coxley was batted out of the box and Waddell, who succeeded him, was wild, giving five bases on balls and making two costly wild pitches. Attendance, 3400. Score: R. H. E. Washington..... 10 9 6 Philadelphia..... 4 6 4

Batteries—Falkenberg, Wolfe and Heyden; Conkley, Waddell and Schreck.
National League.
At Brooklyn—Brooklyn scored its third successive victory over the visiting Boston team today. Attendance, 8000. Score: R. H. E. Brooklyn..... 12 3 3 Boston..... 3 4 2

Batteries—Duescher and Ritter; Willis and Moran.
At New York—Although the New York Nationals outbatted the visiting Philadelphia team, the local men were defeated today. Errors on the part of the home team were responsible. Attendance, 1200. Score: R. H. E. Philadelphia..... 5 9 1 New York..... 4 13 5

Batteries—Pittenger and Dooin; Ames, Bresnahan and Donlin.
At Pittsburgh—Five hits, assisted by two wild pitches and two bases on balls, gave Chicago the game in the fourth inning. Attendance, 1500. Score: R. H. E. Pittsburgh..... 2 7 4 Chicago..... 7 10 2

Batteries—Lynch, Philippi, Hildebrand and Peitz; Weiner and Kling.
Coast League.
At Seattle—Oakland made the game here today a farce. In the second inning Seattle put seven runs across the plate with four hits. Schmidt was touched up for thirteen hits and the Seattle men shut out the visitors without the least chance of a run. Score: R. H. E. Seattle..... 12 13 0 Oakland..... 0 2 6

Batteries—C. Hall and Frary; Schmidt and Blackett.
At Portland—Portland defeated Tacoma today by bunching hits at critical periods, during which the Tacoma's contributed several costly errors. Garvin held the Tigers safe at all stages, although the local team backed him up splendidly, pulling off three double plays. The field was very muddy, making base running exceedingly difficult. Schaffly, Atz and Casey carried off the holding honors. Umpire McDonald failed to show up and Jones and Hogan umpired the game. Score: R. H. E. Portland..... 5 8 4 Tacoma..... 0 2 4

Batteries—Garvin and McLean; Brown and Graham.
At San Francisco—Los Angeles had today's game well in hand from the third inning to the close. In the third three runs were scored on a brace of hits and in the next period Whalen was batted for a trio of safe shots that added another run. Gray's curves had the home team guessing. Score: R. H. E. Los Angeles..... 5 8 3 San Francisco..... 1 5 3

Batteries—Gray and Eger; Whalen and Wilson.
San Francisco—The Los Angeles and Tacoma baseball teams, which were scheduled to play at Tacoma next week, are instead to play at Los Angeles, commencing next Wednesday.

A shoe lining

Would seem to be one of the hardest things to advertise — and it is.

A Boston house which was making a very good grade of plain shoe lining stamped it with a name and trade-mark, and advertised it to the trade alone. The trade refused to buy it for the simple reason that it cost twenty per cent. more than the lining they were buying, which lining was equally as good quality as the trade-marked brand.

So the manufacturer told people who wear shoes about this lining through the columns of THE LADIES' HOME JOURNAL and other magazines of national circulation. Within a year the sales had increased eight hundred per cent and several times since then at the rate of one hundred per cent. a month.

Cotton has advanced in price twice in the last year, and twice the price of this shoe lining has been raised, but still the sales continue to increase.

Today this trade-marked and advertised shoe lining is selling over the same counter, side by side with the same grade of lining unadvertised, at from two to three cents per foot more than the unknown brands.

THE FIRST LECTURE

OF THE UNIVERSITY EXTENSION
SERIES.

H. Morse Stephens Outlines His Course of Twelve Lectures on the French Revolution.

Professor H. Morse Stephens opened the University extension series of lectures last night, speaking to a good-sized audience in the assembly room of the High School building. Two years ago Professor Stephens gave his lecture course here on the writing of history, but last year owing to a misunderstanding, he was unable to include Fresno in his itinerary. In opening his talk last night he referred to those facts and took occasion to express his appreciation of the co-operation given by this city to the extension work in the University. Fresno was the third extension center in the state. "I feel grateful," said Professor Stephens, "in the days of larger things to those who in the days of smaller things lent their support to the extension movement." He referred briefly to the extension work and the changed attitude in regard to it. It is now definitely recognized as a part of the work of the university. The work is now given shelter in the High School building. "But," said the speaker, "I have no desire to force our way down anybody's throat."

Referring to the course to be given, Professor Stephens reminded the center that it had chosen the subject and the day, and he added, "It's up to me to make it interesting." He made good last night. He reminded his hearers that the course was one that began on a basis of special knowledge, and he disclaimed all personal responsibility for the spelling and pronunciation of French words.

The speaker proceeded to discuss the changed attitude toward the French revolution, due to modern historic research, and also referred to the agencies that produced the distorted view. Dickens' Tale of Two Cities and Carlyle's French Revolution contributed more than anything else to a misunderstanding of the period. Carlyle, with his wonderful rhetoric and marvellous descriptive power talked hot hysteria instead of the simple truth of history.

The Berkeley savant announced that he intended to avoid the melodramatic. You will hear nothing," he said, "about rivers of blood, no talk about gallant men and beautiful women, no counting one, two, three, I shall not attempt to indulge in pathos on the one hand, or highfalutin' on the other. I will deal with the Reign of Terror in the most cold-blooded way possible."

Taught upon a subject that he had in a previous lecture amplified, his point of view was entirely abandoned, and the revolutionary theory was universally accepted. The period of crazy political phrasing and exaggerated romanticism has passed. It is the duty of the scholar to find out how things occurred, and the duty of the teacher of history to tell these facts to as many persons as will listen.

Proceeding along this line, Professor Stephens pointed out that the revolution started the inevitable outcome of steps that preceded it, the inevitable outcome of political conditions.

The history material available both for the early histories and the later ones was next set forth with considerable comment. Recent research has got the best of the authorities. The contemporary historian had the newspapers and personal memories as material. Both are in the nature of things unreliable. After a hurried review came to light a mass of documents, with their revelations. As one result Robespierre stands forth as a scoundrel of men stronger than himself instead of the premier villain of the whole tragic period. No period of history can be truly given until the documents are available. The period of the French revolution is as simple as any other if you get rid of the fluff.

The French revolution was not the beginning of a new era, but rather the culmination of the history of the 18th century Europe. France, the best educated and wealthiest nation of Europe wrought out for herself what the enlightened despots had done for the other countries. France, after the great effort, shook off mediocrity and achieved her economic and social freedom. Too much attention is given to the political side of the matter, the effort at self government failed after a year.

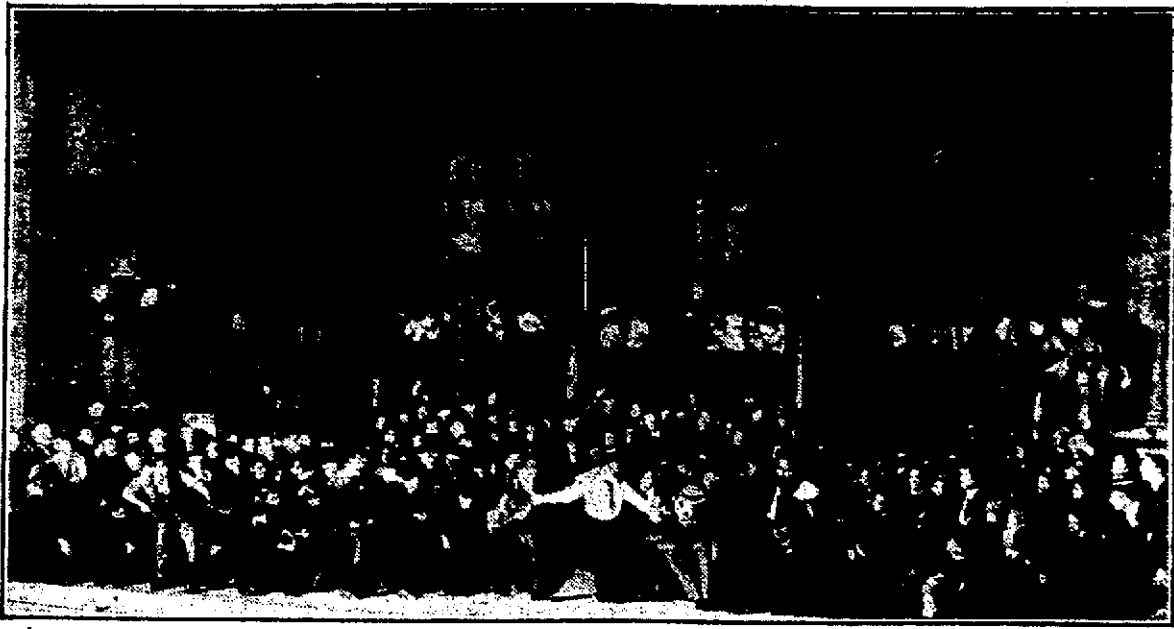

Louis and Antoinette. Professor Stephens now sketched the early careers of Louis XVI. and Marie Antoinette, king and queen of France. Married at the ages of 16 and under 15, they became king and queen at the ages of 18 and 17. A sketchy view of the king was given—a fat man with heavy jaw, a heavy eared, amiable, disposed kindly, unintellectual blue eyes, heavy jaw, a heavier eared, amiable, disposed to do the right thing unless it would cause too much trouble. His private diary showed a remarkable obliviousness to what was going on around him. On the day of the fall of the Bastille and other momentous events, the king entered: "Nothing happened."

Marie Antoinette was the opposite of her husband in many respects. Pretty, vivacious, frivolous, she had a great fondness for clothes and a passion for games. Of her character, Professor Stephens said, "A careful study of all the documentary evidence leads me to believe that while she did her best to appear to be a bad woman, she was not. But 90 per cent of the people of France judged her in the light of her escapades."

The speaker next sketched the political reforms undertaken by Turgo in the way of industrial freedom. After eighteen months he was summarily dismissed. The bureaucracy, the court and the queen brought about his retirement. Successive administrations were touched upon, and the lecture brought up to the election of parliament, after a lapse of 178 years. Americans are so used to elections it is hard for them, said the speaker, to appreciate the delay of holding an election after 178 years. The parliament consisted of three houses, the nobles, the clergy and the third estate—the common people. It was supposed that the high dignitaries of the church would be elected, thus giving the aristocracy control, but by reason of the revolt of the curies, two thirds of the assembly consisted of parish priests, whose sympathies were with the common people.

The next lecture will be next Friday night, when the speaker will take up the story at the meeting of parliament. The subject will be treated in each lecture in a combination of the chronological and biological method. After the lecture last night fourteen signified their intention of doing class work. They will be given three quarters of an hour preceding each lecture.

THE PANIC SCENE IS "THE PIT"

In all centers of civilization where the hum and drone of traffic are pervasive and familiar, "The Pit," in which William Lackaye opens a two night engagement at the Barton tonight, should be appreciated because of its truth. Its pictures of trade will make a strong appeal to this materialistic age, so full of strenuous and arrogant commercialism. Nor need there be any fear of the universality of its appeal, for the vivid love it contains should capture the imagination of all, from the happy "hobo" to the miserable millionaire.

One of the most excellent features of Frank Norris' famous novel, on which the play is founded, is the character drawing. The play is a story of Chicago, its business and social life, but the types of the business men are American types.

William A. Brady has mounted the play superbly, and has surrounded his star with a company of extraordinary strength. Over three hundred people will be engaged in the production.

Tomorrow night Mr. Lackaye will be seen as Svengali in a grand revival of Paul Potter's dramatization of Du Maurier's famous novel "Trilby." Seats will be on sale all day for both performances.

Girl From Kays.

The huge musical comedy production, "The Girl From Kays," with its big retinue of comedians, singers and dancers and its wilderness of scenic effects due at the Barton next Wednesday night, October 11th, has been drawing enormous audiences everywhere it has been seen. The piece is conceded to be an improvement on previous works of its class. It is decidedly and genuinely humorous, compelling laughter of the heartiest kind, good humor permeating every one of the scenes. The sale of seats will open Monday morning at 9 o'clock.

Ethel Barrymore.

Miss Ethel Barrymore gives a decidedly new glimpse of her art in the interesting character, the title role of the play "Sunday," which is to be seen at the Barton next Friday night, October 14th. The love story in which she figures is so simply told that every line carries conviction. The scenes are laid in a Western mining camp and in England. The sale of seats will open Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock.

Success and Failure

This millinery store has been successful from its inception. We developed new methods, started an era of lower prices, spent time and money in bringing the best talent to Fresno, studied the needs of the community—and as a result the largest millinery business in Central California is centered here.

We sell more hats than any three other stores combined. Stores that have been in business in this community for over a quarter of a century have repeatedly attempted to make millinery selling a success but failure has been the result. Time and again the selling of millinery would be discontinued. The "know how" was lacking.

Hats built in wholesale concerns, with the factory touch so apparent, will not appeal to good dressers. Such hats are in the same class as the old-time ready-made clothing of years ago.

The time, money and thought we put into the hats of our creation would appeal to ordinary stores. By the way, what a storm we created when we drew attention to "factory made" hats.

The papers are full of denials; there isn't a factory made hat in town—if you could believe all you read.

We are making them the feature of the millinery selling today. They are characteristic Redlick values; superbly beautiful; exclusive in design; no two just alike; they represent fully a third more value than any other house can show, and they are rightly made; the trimmings won't fall apart; the silks and velvets are of the best, time and wear won't dim their beauty; they can be used over and over again and still look well.

If the saving of from $2.50 to $5.00 is of interest to you, that new hat will be purchased here today.

$7.50—An exquisite Plume Velvet Hat in the roll French sailor shape, trimmed with a beautiful reseda green ostrich plume, twisted maline around the crown, and a fine ornament.

$4.95—A very pretty Cherille braid hat, with a shirred velvet facing, a big silk bow ornaments the back, and the top is trimmed with very fine brown wings. The hat is a poem in brown and one of the season's most popular styles.

$7.50—Charming hat of horsehair braid and chenille; a French roll sailor shape, with shirred velvet facing; trimmed in the back with an Alice-blue feather and ornaments.

$7.50—Correct model hat, in navy blue, chenille and silk braid; a Colonial shape with a shirred velvet facing; two handsome deep blue velvet wings decorate the side and held in place with a knot of velvet.

$4.95—A dainty Turban, developed in navy blue; shirred velvet facing, caught at the side with a fine fancy feather and cut steel ornament.

Some Splendid Saturday Specials

BEGS IN HER BEST

WOMAN CLAD IN WEDDING GOWN ASKS AID FROM COUNTRY.

Her Tale of Woe a Sorrowful One—
Attorney Cook Has a Proposition to Make.

Gowned in her wedding dress, miserable Mrs. L. E. Nair begged the board of Supervisors yesterday to aid her. "My children and husband abuse me like a dog—but I am kind to them just the same, of course." This was one of the statements made by Mrs. Nair. Taken together her statements tell the tale of twenty-three years of misery, shame, pain, abuse and neglect.

The woman wore a gown trimmed with old fashioned black lace and decorated with quaint black glass buttons. From the first night of her marriage the husband of the woman used abuse instead of kind words.

"His way," before going to bed is scolding me," said the woman. "When I pray he swears."

The Nair family lives at No. 912 B street. There are nine children, said the mother, five little ones and four that are big enough to take care of themselves if they want to. One of them, the oldest, is weak minded. "He has struck me with his fist six times," was the story of the mother.

Another son, 19 years of age, was a former employee of Gottschalk's store, but he lost his job "because he was a little light fingered." A girl of 17 comes home when she wants to get a change of clothes and the rest of the time she goes where she wishes. The husband seems to be the worst of the bunch, for he does not stay away from home.

The older children have been raised good Roman Catholics. Whenever I can I put on my wedding dress and steal away to church, but I can't get away very often because there is no one at the house to care for my little ones. I don't get much rest between caring for my children and the abuse from my husband. I am getting old now, too, I am 45. I've been married twenty-three years. If I were free to marry today and a man should come to me with a gold heart, I would not marry him.

"I go out and beg whenever I have strength enough to move about. But I only get ten cents here and a quarter there and I can't go very far in a day."

And so her tale ran on. Supervisor Johnson said that would be useless to give the woman money because it would only give the husband and older children to use it all. "Whenever you manage to beg a little ahead the whole family comes in and helps you eat it up, doesn't it?" asked Johnson.

"I guess that is right," said Mrs. Nair. Johnson said the only thing to be done, provided in fact there is no way to make the husband and older children work, is to put the wife and five small children in the matter further today.

Money That May Be. Attorney F. E. Cook appeared before the supervisors yesterday with a proposition on which he was not fully informed. It seems that a San Francisco attorney has discovered that the state has been keeping money back from the different counties. The exact manner in which this has been done is a mystery to everyone except the attorney. The money had to do with sums supposed to be for the use of aged persons.

The discoverer of the discrepancy proposes to bring suit against the state acting in conjunction with the different district attorneys for the recovery of the sums that have been withheld, however large or small those sums may be. Johnson was selected as his correspondent here.

Cook presented a contract to the board asking that he be authorized to collect the sums due for 25 per cent of the amount recovered. The board referred the matter to the district attorney. The board thought it stands a chance of getting something and can lose nothing because Cook offers to stand the cost of suit.

Matters Before Board. The board of supervisors yesterday ordered the E. H. Hardie, C. P. Ayne and J. N. Daniel roads surveyed and viewed. County Surveyor Scott McKay, H. Craven and J. D. Miller were selected to do the work on the Ayne road.

The Fred S. Turnbull and Fred Coleman roads were set for hearing on November 10th at 2 o'clock.

Saloon licenses were granted to Jacob Richter, Polasky, Walker & Brattin at Millwood, J. R. Perry at Concho, J. T. Barrett outside of Fresno, E. Schield at No. 101 Railroad avenue and Kohl and Steitz at No. 111 F street.

HANDICAP SINGLES.

Fancy Racket Cover Will Go To Winner of Tournament.

Third Class—Playing from one-half of fifteen above scratch: C. Spence, L. Levy, H. Ward and G. Shannon. Fourth Class—Playing fifteen above scratch: R. Shaeffer and H. Butler.

TOMORROWS GAME

FRESNO EXPECTS TO CLIMB ANOTHER NOTCH UP THE LADDER

Oaklands Recently Defeated Stockton and May Give Locals a Hard Run for Victory.

The game with Oakland tomorrow afternoon may be one of the hardest contests of the season. The Athletics have been playing good ball of late, and the Sunday after their last game here won from Stockton by the score of 2 to 1. The big twirler, Tyson, will again be on the firing line. Fresno has batted him a little harder every time he has pitched here, and if the increase keeps pace tomorrow, he stands a fair chance of having his offerings whalloped all over the lot. But that remains to be seen. It is more probable that he will hold the local boys down better than for many weeks, having more confidence now in the men behind him, who have been playing fine ball.

Fresno wants the pennant this half. There is really no good reason why it shouldn't come here, for except in one department Fresno has every other team in the league outclassed. That one department is base running. On the bases the locals have of late pulled off plays that were downright stupid. In holding they are up with any of the others, and they are unquestionably hitting better now than any other. Last Sunday with nearly twice as many hits as the visitors got, the locals lost a chance to win the game three or four times simply by fool plays on the bases. There should be a little coaching in this branch of the game.

Wouldn't it break Cy Mering's heart if he shouldn't win this half? Cyrus thought he had a cinch in the first half, but he was behind San Jose just the same. However, a dead heat was declared, so that Stockton and San Jose will have to fight for the first half championship when the season ends. But Cyrus was confident of the second half. At any rate, he counted Fresno down and out completely. He had all the local players on the dub list. And now Fresno and Presidio both stand higher in the list than Stockton, and both stand a mighty good show of finishing several degrees ahead of the Millers.

Moreing, by the way, is handling a big contract in San Francisco and Ches Campbell, the second baseman, is managing the team.

THE FRATERNITIES

DEGREE OF HONOR WILL DIVIDE INTO TEAM TO GET MEMBERS

Rathbone Sisters Expect to Have Temple in Selma—Yeomen Are Busy.

There was an unusually large attendance last night at the meeting of the Degree of Honor. There is a movement on foot to awaken enthusiasm and create interest in lodge work. The plan divides the membership equally with a captain and lieutenant on each side. Mrs. A. Ritter commands the A side with Mrs. Frank Bollinger as assistant. The B side is under the supervision of Mrs. Rose Hills, assisted by Mrs. H. E. Collins. Every new member obtained counts a hundred points for the side that gets it and at each meeting points are counted and a record kept. The two sides are to furnish entertainment on alternate meeting nights, the entertainment provided also to count as points. Regular attendance will also be rewarded. It is believed that this plan will be efficient in keeping up an interest in the meetings and making them more enjoyable.

Rathbone Sisters.

The Rathbone sisters expect to institute a new temple at Selma in the near future and also to hold a district convention, the date to be settled upon later. The office of outer guard was declared vacant last night and Mrs. Francis Sherman was appointed to fill the place. The temple contemplates a social in the near future.

Ancient Order of Foresters.

Court Raisin City, A. O. F., received ten applicants under the special dispensation. The Court expects to have a class initiation in about three weeks.

Knights of Pythias.

Knights of Pythias held a short business meeting last night at which Brother Smith of Avalon lodge, Santa Cruz, was a visitor. One application was received. There will be initiation next Friday night.

Yeomen.

The Brotherhood of American Yeomen were busy last night organizing the drill team. One candidate, Miss Mable Coleman was initiated into the mysteries. Applications were received from Mrs. Rose Matthews, Miss Leah Matthews, Avis Matthews and Bentley Matthews.

Y. M. C. A. RALLY.

Social Activity of Winter Starts Off in Good Shape. The Y. M. C. A. boys started the social side of association affairs last night when the members gathered together for a rousing rally among themselves. The attendance was large and everyone who came enjoyed the jolliest sort of an evening. There were plenty of amusements in the way of games, pit and flinch seemed to be popular diversions and a series of shadow pictures were likewise entertaining.

Plans for the winter were announced in talks made by Secretary Smith, Director Fee and Harry Kinnee. Next Thursday evening the basketball team will meet and a committee will be appointed to handle basketball matters. The gymnasium classes will all be ready for work on Monday evening.

Secretary Smith leaves a week from Saturday and as yet no successor has been found. The matter is in the hands of the state secretary.

Changes in the Navy.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—Captain F. J. Drake has been detached from duty as captain of the yard of the Mare Island navy yard and ordered to the command of the battleship Wisconsin on October 26, relieving Captain Richardson Clover, who has completed his tour of sea duty.

THE END OF POMPEII

REALISTIC EXHIBITION OF ERUPTION OF MOUNT VESUVIUS.

Pain's Company Entertains With Good Acrobatic Performance and Grand Fire Works.

The first performance of Pain's "Last Days of Pompeii" entertained a big audience with an excellent acrobatic program and the finest exhibition of fire works ever seen in Fresno. The performance is entirely pantomimic, but is none the less interesting, and praise of the show as a whole was heard on every side at its conclusion.

The setting is of a street in Pompeii, with Vesuvius in the distance. The entertainment opens with the little children playing in the streets. The soldiery appears on parade, the priests are seen from the temple, and the entire populace, men, women and children, mostly on foot, comes in from the hills. Then follows the entertainment of the populace, beginning with an obstacle race participated in by about two dozen boys who created no end of mirth in their frantic efforts to get first over the hurdles and through swinging barrels.

After this there followed the acrobatic entertainment. This was given on the platform of a temple in the center of the inclosure, the performers issuing from a door of the temple. First came a group of dancing girls, then a group of acrobats, followed in turn by a couple of white-clad giants, who, mounted upon a pedestal of slowly posed in imitation of various famous pieces of statuary. Following them were a pair of head balancers, one of whom gave an exhibition of immense strength by tossing his companion about as lightly as a feather and holding him at arm's length with one hand. The dancing girls again appeared, and more acrobatics followed.

Then came the eruption of Vesuvius, interrupting a sword combat just begun between two gladiators. Swift and terrible it came, and the scene which tells that Pompeii was destroyed slowly had to give away before the demands of the public for something spectacular. Without a moment's warning the mountain began to belch forth its fire and its thunderous explosions. Rapidly the city took fire. Flames blazed from every roof, the walls crumbled and fell and in five minutes the ruins were complete. While the eruption of Vesuvius and the destruction of the city is spectacular and awe-inspiring, it is brief—almost too brief. That feature of the performance is over almost by the time one realizes it has begun.

The best part of the show came after the Vesuvius eruption, and that was the fire works. The rockets and bombs, the fire fountains, the spin wheels, the Roman candles, all were beautiful. The set pieces were nothing short of grand. The one of the greatest beauty was the rose, which first burned green lights showing the outlines of the flower and finally turned to alternate red and white buds. Another of especial merit was an immense "spin within it, both being decorated with numerous smaller "spin wheels." The two large wheels revolved in different directions and spectacular in the extreme was the effect when all were going.

However, the set-piece that brought forth the greatest applause was one showing a profile of Mayor W. Parker Lyon, beneath it being the inscription, "Our Mayor." The likeness was good. Mayor Lyon himself was an interested spectator at the performance.

The program closed with a shower of fire-balls and the display "good night" set piece. The company will give another performance tonight. The show grounds are on Ventura avenue.

NEVADA AND THE NEW YORK LIFE

EXPULSION ACTION DELAYED BY AGENTS' REQUEST.

State Authorities Will Await Result of the Investigation By New York Board.

CARSON, Nev., Oct. 6.—The state board of revenue met today at the capital to take action on the request of Hawes and Harris, agents of the New York Life Insurance company, to postpone final action relative to revoking the license of the company in Nevada. The request of the representatives of the company was that the state postpone final action upon the case until the company had a chance to make its defense before the investigating committee in New York. They did not ask any revocation of the action of the comptroller but a suspension of final action.

Governor Sparks, in addressing the representatives of the company, stated that he fully endorsed the act of the commissioner of insurance. It had been stated that many agents throughout the state would force the license and the state desired to do nothing unfair with anybody and he considered the request to postpone final action until after the committee's report a reasonable one.

Attorney General Sweeney maintained that a clear case of the misuse of the funds had been proven by the company's own admission, when it contributed money to political committees. He was willing to await the action of the investigating committees.

Comptroller Davis said he was willing to abide by the judgment of the board and agreed to take no final action until after the investigation in New York.

The board decided to suspend all further action until after the New York investigating committee has finished its work.

The board of education met last night and inspected the plans submitted by the various contractors for the parental school building. No action was taken in the matter and all discussion was postponed until the next regular meeting Tuesday, the 17th. All of the directors were present except A. B. Clark. The plans submitted by McDougall Bros. were taken up first. There were two sets of these, and E. G. McDougall explained fully the plan and construction of both buildings. He estimated that the cost of the larger of the two would be $750
